Acting in an eco-friendly and sustainable manner is a responsibility and obligation we all have. As the leading global supplier of additives for water-based systems, BYK takes this challenge seriously. No matter whether paints, plastics or industrial applications, our products for water-based formulations help to care for our environment and to protect our health. And these solutions are equally high-performance, economic and easy to work with as solvent-based additives. The future is in aqueous systems – for a better future for every one of us.
